TTC sets sights on freeloading riders

- Program addresses issues expected to arise with 2013 launch of new streetcars
- Yet to be decided whether TTC will ultimately keep current paper-transfer system

Cheaters with invalid transfers. Evaders who enter the streetcar's back door without a pass.

They anger honest riders and, along with other transit tricksters, bilked the TTC out of more than $22 million in fares last year — double the 2009 rate.

In response, the TTC has launched Fare Is Fair, a program meant to reduce those losses, even though the agency doesn't exactly know why fare evasion is on the rise. The plan calls for all on-duty transit enforcement officers to monitor turnstiles, crash gates and bus and streetcar platforms during the morning and afternoon rush.

The move points to the challenges the system will face when its new, larger streetcars begin running in 2013 and all 11 downtown routes move to back-door boarding and a proof-of-payment system similar to that on GO Transit. GO has a smaller and generally higher-income clientele and it lost only about $2 million last year to fare evasion. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Tricks of the trade

In 2010, the TTC lost $22,067,707 to fare evaders. Here are some of the types of evasions and the number of lost fares.

- Invalid transfer: 9,361,095
- Metropass used by two unrelated people: 1,228,043
- Foreign money: 658,703

Declaring the "great day has arrived," Jean-Bertrand Aristide said farewell to South Africa Thursday, then boarded a plane for Haiti, where he can expect both adoring crowds and probing questions about his intentions. U.S. President Barack Obama had tried to keep the popular but controversial figure away from Haiti until after a presidential election this weekend, a vote many fear will be destabilized by the presence of the former Haitian president.

Oakville also wants federal hospital cash

Is a federal agency's $10-million contribution to a Vaughan medical park a case of splitting political hairs?

Wednesday's announcement raised eyebrows, as it followed suggestions by Julian Fantino, campaigning in the federal byelection in Vaughan last year, that he could get federal cash to help build a new hospital. Gary Goodyear, minister of state for the Federal Economic Development Agency for Southern Ontario (FedDev), joined Fantino at the news conference.

"In the end, I hope for a Canadian government that treats everybody the same." OAKVILLE MAYOR ROB BURTON

Normally, hospitals are a provincial responsibility. And in Oakville, which is also planning a hospital, observers wonder why they're not being treated to the same largesse — or a push for it from their own MP.

Oakville Mayor Rob Burton said the same agency contributed just $75,000 to the Life Sciences Business Park that will surround the new $1.5-billion Oakville hospital, expected to be finished in 2015.

On Wednesday, Burton said he was looking for similar multimillion-dollar help from Oakville's member of Parliament, Terence Young, also a Harper Conservative.

"We have a real hospital project and a real life sciences park and our member got us $75,000 for ours," Burton said Thursday. "I sure hope that was just a down payment."

Burton said he had heard nothing from Young or his office in Ottawa about the hospital since the Vaughan announcement. Young did not return messages left over two days from the Toronto Star. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Group tapping into free water refills

Blue stickers make municipal water more accessible at various businesses

The co-operative businesses are never the ones you would expect.

Dagna Pielaszkiewicz and Stella Adewolu, volunteers with Youth4Water, a group of young people raising awareness about water issues and rights, spent Thursday afternoon canvassing a busy strip of King Street East with a simple request for businesses: Affix a small blue "W" sticker to your door.

The stickers, part of a program called Blue W, let thirsty Torontonians know that the business will allow anyone to come in off the street with a reusable water bottle or canteen and fill up from the tap for free.

More than 3,000 businesses are registered coast to coast in Canada. But Blue W director Evan Pilkington says Toronto doesn't have nearly as dense a network of tap-happy businesses as Guelph, where Pilkington is based and where university students have taken up the cause.

Search online

▶ Participating stores are registered on bluew.org, which hosts an interactive map that lets users with a web connection — or, more likely, a smartphone — search an address to find the nearest tap.

In Toronto, "it's very low numbers for what it could be. There's huge potential," he says.

Pielaszkiewicz, 25, Adewolu, 20, and their group are trying to change that. Over the next week — which coincides with Canada Water Week — they will be canvassing parts of the city in pairs to convince businesses to sign up, and plan to ramp the program up come summertime so at least 200 storefronts are added to the map.

The task involves a combination of careful explanation, persistent needling and charm. And the businesses who flat out say no are never the ones you would expect.

The woman behind the counter at a tiny takeout Vietnamese restaurant, the kind of mom and pop place one would expect to appreciate some extra foot traffic, is afraid of descending hoards: The place is too busy during lunch rushes. Pielaszkiewicz says she understands.

But at a Starbucks, the manager says he loves the idea.

He has to clear it with the bosses, but he says they fill up water bottles free all the time anyway. He seems so thrilled with their pitch that he offers them each a free coffee. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Police had legal grounds to detain rapper, judge rules

- Defence lawyer argued man's rights were violated
- Police used expired sticker as a 'ruse,' lawyer says

STEVE RUSSELL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Edward Greenspan

Toronto police officers did not violate a young black man's charter rights when they stopped and searched his car and discovered three loaded handguns, an Ontario Superior Court judge ruled Thursday.

Defence lawyer Edward Greenspan had argued police violated Raynford Humphrey's rights against unlawful detention because they used the "ruse" of an expired validation sticker to stop his Cadillac in the Entertainment District early March 8, 2008.

Greenspan also alleged racial profiling was behind the stop. He was seeking the exclusion of the guns.

But after considering some "tricky legal issues," Justice Michael Code concluded police had legal justification because it is an offence not to have a valid sticker affixed to a licence plate under the Highway Traffic Act.

And Code said there were lawful reasons operating throughout the "concurrent criminal investigation" due to the "alleged gang affiliation" of Humphrey's brother Jason. The judge made no comment on the alleged racial profiling. Written reasons would follow later, he said.

Humphrey, who is known by his rap artist name P. Reign, has pleaded not guilty to nine gun-related offences.

Everyone is Irish on St. Patrick's Day

In the United States the Chicago River is dyed green for the day. In Toronto, partygoers celebrated St. Patrick's Day in bars and pubs across the city, sporting green attire, shamrocks and, of course, putting back a pint of their favourite Irish beer. Many pubs opened their patios as unseasonably high temperatures and a brief period of sunshine hit the GTA in the afternoon.

Man falls into 10-metre tank

Toronto Fire Services rescued a man who fell into a 10-metre industrial tank in Scarborough Thursday.

Police say the man was working on the construction project at F.J. Horgan Water Treatment Plant at 210 Copperfield Rd. near Morningside Avenue.

The man, in his 40s, was taken to hospital with a broken ankle and possible concussion.

Toronto private school to launch school in South Korea

With its stunning views, Jeju Island has long been a popular honeymoon locale for Korean newlyweds.

In the last decade, however, the Korean government decided the UNESCO World Heritage Site should be more than a post-nuptial pit stop. As part of a plan to make the island more competitive, they are making it a destination for students as well, by creating a Global Education City.

Twelve international schools will one day create a prestigious English immersion environment for Koreans — including Toronto's own Branksome Hall, the only Canadian school involved with the project.

English is big business in South Korea. Every year, 30,000 families send their children to the West for elementary or secondary school at a cost of $60,000 US per child, Korean officials estimate.

With the education city, the Korean government hopes to keep families together, while attracting students from other Asian countries, project manager Christopher Bogden said.

A chance to 'show off'

Organization uses hockey to teach life skills, build kids' self-esteem
10 programs in 7 Canadian cities

A group of kids from Hockey Education Reaching Out Society (HEROS) will make up 10 of 35 children chosen from across North America to participate in the Willie O'Ree Skills Weekend, beginning Friday in Buffalo.

"The kids are going to get a chance to skate on the HSBC Arena ice where the Buffalo Sabres play," said Moe Hasham, director of programs at HEROS in Eastern Canada.

"And on top of that they are going to be coached by NHL alumni, so I think that is what makes this trip in particular so special."

HEROS is a charitable organization that works with schools to give underprivileged kids the opportunity to play ice hockey.

The children, representing Toronto, Edmonton, Calgary, Montreal and Winnipeg, were chosen based on their educational improvement, development on the ice and behavioural progress.

Alexandra Joseph, 12, is one of the lucky 10.

"I really want to go to the Buffalo game," said Joseph. "I'm also looking forward to the skills week 'cause then I can show off what I can do."

Hasham said he was fortunate enough to play ice hockey when he was young and he began volunteering with HEROS in 2006.

"I know how expensive it was for my parents, being new immigrants to Canada," said Hasham. "I really connected with the organization in terms of being able to work with kids that are of diverse ethnicities."

Yes to no-fly zone

UN vote means Gadhafi faces military action ◗ Benghazi braced

The United Nations Security Council approved a no-fly zone over Libya Thursday.

It authorized "all necessary measures" to protect civilians from attacks by dictator Moammar Gadhafi's forces.

The U.S. said it was preparing for action.

France had said if the no-fly zone was approved it would support military action within hours.

Several Arab nations were expected to provide backup.

The vote came as Gadhafi was poised to launch a final assault on the opposition's capital, Benghazi.

The "hour of decision has come," Gadhafi said as his forces advanced toward the city and warplanes bombed its airport.

For those who resist, he warned, "there will be no mercy or compassion."

The UN vote was 10-0 with five abstentions, including Russia and China.

It came after the U.S. made a dramatic about-face and supported a no-fly zone.

City under siege

Benghazi, Libya's second-largest city with a population of 700,000, was gearing up Thursday for the fight of its life.

- The city was "armed to the teeth," the opposition said.
- Young men were volunteering for military training, said a resident.
- Checkpoints were set up at intersections and on main roads, manned by men in uniform armed with AK-47s.

Obama's Irish roots link him to relatives

U.S. President Barack Obama found out years ago he had an Irish great-great-great-grandfather who fled the potato famine in 1850.

He can now claim 28 living relatives who also descended from that Irishman, including a Vietnam veteran, a school nurse and a displeased Arizona Republican.

The president's newly identified relatives are revealed in a study released by Ancestry.com, whose genealogists also traced descendants of 23 other Irish passengers on the ship that brought Falmouth Kearney to the United States when he was 19.

The survey allowed genealogists to further trace branches in Obama's family tree and others who arrived on the ship, known as the Marmion, on March 20, 1850.

Plants under review

There are 104 nuclear reactors in the U.S., providing approximately 20 per cent of the country's electricity

U.S. President Barack Obama said Thursday he has asked nuclear regulators to do a comprehensive review of the safety of U.S. plants in light of the disaster in Japan, saying "nuclear energy is an important part of our own energy future."

Obama said he made the request to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. He spoke after the commission's head said it could take weeks to bring the crippled nuclear complex in northeastern Japan under control.

At the White House, following a trip to the Japanese Embassy to express his condolences, Obama also sought to assure the nation that the disaster currently posed no threat to the United States. "We do not expect harmful levels of radiation to reach the West Coast, Hawaii, Alaska or the U.S. territories in the Pacific," Obama said, repeating the remark for emphasis.

Workers battle to regain control of Japanese reactor
Radiation levels 'have somewhat stabilized': Official

Emergency workers frantic to regain control of Japan's dangerously overheated nuclear complex turned to increasingly elaborate methods Thursday to cool nuclear fuel rods at risk of spraying out more radiation.

They tried with police water cannons, heavy-duty fire trucks and military helicopters dropping bucket after enormous bucket of water onto the stricken system.

By nightfall, it wasn't clear if anything had worked, and the UN nuclear agency warned the situation was "very serious."

U.S. and Japanese officials gave differing assessments of what was happening at the Fukushima Dai-ichi nuclear plant, 220 kilometres north of Tokyo.

The top U.S. nuclear regulatory official warned of possible high emissions of radiation while the U.S. ambassador urged Americans within 80 kilometres of the plant on the tsunami-savaged northeastern coast to leave the area or at least remain indoors.

Tokyo Electric Power Co., which owns the plant, said it believed workers were making headway in staving off a catastrophe both with the spraying and, especially, with efforts to complete an emergency power line to restart the plant's own electric cooling systems.

"This is a first step toward recovery," said Teruaki Kobayashi, a facilities management official at the power company.

Canada is busing nationals away from damaged reactor in northern Japan

- Canada is chartering buses to get Canadians away from a possible nuclear meltdown in northern Japan.
- The Foreign Affairs Department says 16 Canadians were bused out of the region around the Fukushima nuclear power plant Thursday.
- They travelled on buses supplied by the governments of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Britain.
- Two more buses will return to the area Friday to pick up the approximately 185 registered Canadians still in the affected region.

Liberal leader asks if Harper can be trusted with power ◐ PM staffer accused of influence peddling

Influence peddling allegations against a former Conservative government staffer raise questions about whether Prime Minister Stephen Harper can be trusted with power, Liberal Leader Michael Ignatieff said Thursday.

Ignatieff said the allegations speak to the "serious ethical lapses" of the Harper government. "This is raising fundamental questions about whether Stephen Harper can be trusted with power," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Supreme Court will hear niqab arguments

80 The Supreme Court of Canada hears 80 appeals a year during three sessions that begin in January, April and October. Each session lasts three months.

The country's top court has agreed to hear the case of a woman who wanted to wear a niqab while testifying.

The woman, known as N.S., was to testify against two relatives she accuses of sexually assaulting her.

She wanted to wear her niqab while on the stand, but the two men argued it violated their right to face their accuser in court.

The case went to the Court of Appeal for Ontario, which ruled witnesses who wear the face-covering veil must remove it on the stand, but only if wearing it truly jeopardizes the accused's right to a fair trial.

That court sent the case back to the preliminary inquiry judge, and ordered the judge to let N.S. make arguments about her religious beliefs, but she took the case to the Supreme Court of Canada.

On Thursday, the Supreme Court agreed to hear the woman's appeal and ordered Ontario's attorney general to pay her lawyer's fees.

Feds ease disaster rules for provinces

The federal government is promising an end to some of the more rigid and occasionally frustrating rules governing disaster compensation.

The government is doing away with a requirement that municipalities dismantle structures, such as emergency dikes, before they can get reimbursed, Conservative MP James Bezan said Thursday.

Another change will affect funding that the provinces get to improve damaged property or structures above and beyond replacement value. Until now, the money had to be spent on the damaged property itself. Now, provinces will be able to pool cash to spend it on one large project such as building a new, higher bridge over a river.

The disaster program is a complex series of formulas under which Ottawa shares the cost of rebuilding.

▶ Andy O'Brien, Sidney Crosby's personal trainer, says no matter how well the Pittsburgh star has played, we've only seen the tip of the iceberg in terms of his potential.

5 MINUTES WITH: ANDY O'BRIEN

Sidney Crosby's personal trainer opens up about his star client, and what it takes to be the best in the world.

Athletes tend to train a lot harder than regular mortals. From your experience, is there anything different about their genetic makeup?
Yeah, there is. In general, their ability to learn new motor skills and their competitive level is much higher than average, so if they can't do something right away they're motivated to get better at it.

How can we incorporate some of what you do with Sidney into our own fitness routine?
We do a lot of sprints and footwork, but we do it with stability enhancement, quickness and a lot of speed work. I think that's one of the key things: Get to the track and get away from the gym. And also something as simple as the clothing, like the ZigTech Apparel he uses to train. It increases oxygen levels in the body, so it makes you more efficient and productive in your workout.

What's Sidney like to train?
The best way to describe him is zero complacency. He wins an Olympic gold medal and he wants to win a Stanley Cup. He defines his success very much as team success, but he always wants to win. So with that, it's challenging to be his trainer because he's got high expectations for me and for what we do.

Be honest. Did you feel like that Olympic victory was partly yours?
No, I didn't. But I was watching it on TV and I think I jumped higher than he did when he scored. I was pretty excited. I know how difficult that tournament was; I know how badly he wanted it. When I saw him score that goal, to me it wasn't defined by that moment; it was defined by all of those things that he did to prepare for that moment, the years of sacrifice and work ethic.

Did things change after he won?
No. The more success he has, the more hungry he gets to have more success, so I think enjoying that moment made him look forward to more moments like that.

Where do you think you can take him as an athlete?
I think his potential is that he's got a lot of room for improvement, and we haven't seen the best of him yet. ● JORDANA DIVON

Mercury's magnetism

Worth mentioning

A desk-sized NASA spacecraft is riding the brakes all the way to Mercury, about to pull a tricky manoeuvre Thursday night to become the first man-made object to orbit the tiny planet.

After a trip of 7.9 billion kilometres and nearly six and a half years, the Messenger spacecraft will try to careen into an egg-shaped orbit and fight off the gigantic gravitational pull of the sun. To do so, it will have to use more than half of the fuel it was launched with in 2004 to reduce speed dramatically in just 15 minutes.

If all works well, Messenger will circle as close as 193 kilometres from the surface and survey the entire planet for a year, beginning April 4. It will learn about Mercury's mysterious magnetic field and — most tantalizing of all — discover if the closest planet to the sun has ice in its permanently dark frigid craters near its poles.

If all doesn't go well, it is more likely that the $446-million spacecraft flies away from Mercury and ends up circling the sun. NASA should know whether it succeeds in about an hour. If something goes wrong, engineers have fallback plans they can use in the next three days to three months to try to get the spacecraft back in some kind of orbit around Mercury. Metro Minute with Nivea skin care

Spring officially kicks off next weekend, which means you've reached that time of year where your skin couldn't possibly look worse. The dull, sallow pallor and that mountain of dry flakes crusted around your nose — that's your face's way of letting you know how much it enjoyed being abused by the elements this winter. So before the city's mass exodus outdoors, make sure you clean that mess up. Starting today, Nivea skin care is celebrating its 100th anniversary by launching a pop-up location at 361 Queen St. W. Experts will be on hand to offer skin care advice, give out samples, and jump-start the month-long apology you owe to the region above your neck. Visit nivea.ca for more. ● JORDANA DIVON

Marshalls enters Canadian market

- Healthy economy here has attracted U.S. chains
- Canadian retailers facing new competition

American discount store Marshalls opened in Toronto Thursday, welcoming hoards of shoppers. The Leaside location was packed during lunch hour, with white and blue balloons suspended from racks of discounted designer clothing, shoes and toys. Two other locations also opened, one in Scarborough and one in Woodbridge.

Marshalls is owned by The TJX Companies, Inc. which also owns Winners, HomeSense and T.J. Maxx. The store, similar to Winners, carries brand-name goods at discounted prices.

Marshalls is the first in an influx of U.S. retailers to Canada this year. Other companies with plans to open stores here include J. Crew, Kohl's and Target. They will be joining high-profile recent entrants such as Brooks Brothers and Crate & Barrel.

The new stores will mean increased competition in the retail sector, said Maureen Atkinson, an analyst with J.C. Williams Group.

"It really means that our competitive environment is going to get a lot more fierce," she said. "Everybody's going to have to up their game in order to not be left in the backwater."

RICHARD CROUSE & MARK BRESLIN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Limitless attraction

- Richard Crouse and Mark Breslin debate the merits of Limitless
- The action-thriller comes complete with scenes of psychedelia

Richard Crouse: Mark, I enjoyed the heck out of Limitless despite the fact that I'm not exactly sure what message the movie is trying to send.

Its first act would make Timothy Leary proud — drugs open up the mind, man — then becomes a Nancy Reagan "Just Say No" drama before winding down to an ambiguous ending. I wasn't expecting Requiem for a Dream, but I would have liked a clearer point of view. You?

Mark Breslin: Actually I appreciated its ambiguous point of view, especially since the middle section was a bit preachy. I think the movie was illustrating that whoever goes up must come down — usually with a crashing headache. And, that we're all addicted to something. I felt the Bradley Cooper character was as addicted to his success and material comforts as to the drug itself.

RC: Certainly he becomes a kind of yuppified Keith Richards, a chemically enhanced knowledge junkie with a taste for the good life, which I thought that was an interesting take for a drug movie. I'm not sure I could have accepted Cooper in a grittier role. I thought he carried the movie — he's a good leading man, can do comedy and has the chops to do drama.

MB: I agree, Richard. He's in almost every scene of the movie, and it stands or falls on his abilities. Though I have to give some kudos to the director, Neil Burger, who fills the first half of the movie with appropriate psychedelia. Watching the movie, I sometimes felt like I had taken that drug, or maybe there was just something off in the hot golden topping.

RC: I liked much of the look of the movie, the drug haze scenes are effective, and the 18-hour blackout sequence is a kind of a tour de force, complete with Bruce Lee flashbacks, but I thought the attempts to illustrate his newfound intelligence a bit gimmicky.

Letters falling from the ceiling while he is furiously writing.

Really?

MB: And I've seen that somewhere before, I just can't remember where. (Maybe if I were on the drug, I would.) Also, in the '60s there was a movie called Charly about a slow-witted man who becomes a genius after an operation.

But it was the '60s so he doesn't try to corner the stock market. And if I see one more Russian villain, I'm going to organize a lobby on their behalf.

No matter. I really liked this one.

Plot synopsis

- Bradley Cooper plays a slacker writer with a crappy apartment, an ex-wife and soon-to-be ex-girlfriend. His life changes when he begins taking a drug that allows him to access the other 80 per cent. Suddenly he can learn languages in hours and can retrieve everything he has ever read, seen or thought about. His intellectual ability is, as the title says, limitless. Also limitless are the people who will do almost anything to lay their hands on the drug.

McConaughey gets sketchier role in Lincoln

The Lincoln Lawyer
Director: Bead Furman
Stars: Matthew McConaughey, Ryan Philippe.
●●½
Brad Furman's legal thriller cruises along for the first half of its running time on a smartly chosen rap soundtrack and the charisma of leading man Matthew McConaughey.

Coming off a period in which he's been reinvented as a romantic comedy star, McConaughey is obviously having fun with a sketchier part: his Mickey Haller is a tarnished-white-knight figure, a scandal-plagued Los Angeles attorney who lines his pockets by winning settlements for a conspicuously scuzzy clientele.

The Lincoln Lawyer is adapted from a potboiler by Michael Connelly, and it never transcends its source material's airport-paperback plotting: it's pretty obvious here things are going from the first, tense scene between McConaughey's Mickey Haller and Ryan Philippe as a callow trust-fund kid accused of sexual assault.

Marisa Tomei and William H. Macy contribute nicely sketched supporting performances (as Mickey's ex-wife and investigator, respectively), but the contrivance-laden story finally stretches credibility past the breaking point.

ADAM NAYMAN

The Butcher, The Chef, And The Swordsman
Director: Wuershan
Stars: Masanobu Ando, You Benchang, Liu Xiaoye
●●●
This bizarre Chinese martial arts slapstick comedy with musical and animated interludes defies categorization. Director Wuershan succeeds more than he fails and the film should be enjoyed by fans of wacko Asian cinema.

PHIL BROWN

A Screaming Man
Director: Mahamat Saleh Haroun Stars: Youssouf Djaoro, Diouc Koma.
A slow-burning tragedy set in contemporary civil-war-torn Chad, Mahamat Saleh Haroun's A Screaming Man concerns a 60-year-old former swimming champion (Youssouf Djaoro) who loses his job as an upscale hotel pool attendant.

Compounding his frustration is the fact that the post has gone to his son. The filmmaking accumulates a coiled, quiet force.

ADAM NAYMAN

Cosmonaut
Director: Susanna Nicchiarelli
Stars: Marianna Raschilla, Claudia Pandolfi, Sergio Rubini
●●●
Here's something you don't see every day: a quirky feminist comedy about teenage Italian communists obsessed with the space race in the early '60s. Susanna Nicchiarelli's charmingly quirky coming-of-age tale concerns a teen girl and budding communist struggling to find first love and independence, while also dealing with her developmentally-delayed, space-obsessed brother. Nicchiarelli nimbly avoids drippy sentimentalism with a mischievous sense of humour and some incredibly strong performances from her young actors.

PHIL BROWN

Kill The Irishman
Director: Jonathan Hensleigh
Stars: Ray Stevenson, Christopher Walken, Vincent D'Onofrio
●●●
A surprisingly strong true-life gangster saga from longtime Hollywood screenwriter Jonathan Hensleigh (Die Hard With A Vengeance) about Danny Greene, a longshoreman union rep and mafia knee-breaker who took on New York's infamous five families in the '70s, leading to a summer of bombings in Cleveland and a major mob war.

PHIL BROWN

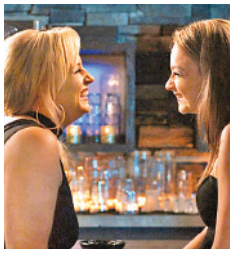
Paul
Director: Greg Mottola
Stars: Simon Pegg, Nick Frost, Seth Rogen
●●●½
Paul reunites the comedy duo of Simon Pegg and Nick Frost with considerable expectations following the cult success of Hot Fuzz and Shaun Of The Dead. It's the first film they've written together and their first without Edgar Wright (Scott Pilgrim) in the director's chair. As a result, it never quite hits the movie-drunk highs of their previous efforts, but certainly plays far better than any other comedy currently in theatres. Pleasant diversions don't come much more joyfully geeky than this. ● PHIL BROWN



Amazon Falls
Director: Katrin Bowen
Stars: April Telek, Anna Mae Routledge, William B. Davis,
●●●½
Made for peanuts, director Katrin Bowen's scrappy little comedy Amazon Falls is a real deal DIY treat. Canadian TV actress April Telek stars as the impossibly tall Lana, an aging actress known for her roles in Xena-like action films. But the bloom is off her rose and she finds it difficult to remain a contender in Hollywood … and even more difficult to find luck in love. Offbeat, meandering and groovy movie with a fantastic turn from Telek.
● CHRIS ALEXANDER

When We Leave
Director: Feo Aladag
Stars: Sibel Kekilli, Nizam Schiller.
●●●½
Sibel Kekilli is superb in Feo Aladag's melodrama about a Turkish woman who walks out on her abusive husband in Istanbul only to find her family waiting unsympathetically in Berlin.
As a study of cultural identity and assimilation, When We Leave is passable — as a showcase for its star, however, it's nearly perfect.
● ADAM NAYMAN

The Year Dolly Parton Was My Mom
Director: Tara Johns
Stars: Julia Stone, Gil Bellows
●●●
At the onset of puberty, pre-teen Elizabeth (Julie Stone) discovers that she is adopted. It's devastating of course, until she reasons that Dolly Parton may be her biological mama and sets out to confront the singing legend. The Year Dolly Parton Was My Mom is punctuated with solid performances, a keen eye on the art direction of the 1970s and Canadian themes.
● STEVE GOW

I Saw The Devil
Director: Jee-Woon Kim
Stars: Byung-hun Lee, Min-sik Choi, Gook-hwan Jeon
●●●●
Make no mistake. I Saw The Devil is a sick and depraved serial killer movie that sets out to disturb and succeeds in a big bad way. Korea has been producing arguably the best genre movies in the world for a decade and Jee-Woon Kim's latest just might be the country's most unsettling export yet. It's about a serial killer who brutally murders the fiancée of a special agent, who then hunts down the killer and punishes him in ways that blur the line between hero and foe.
● PHIL BROWN

Jane Eyre
Director: Cary Fukunaga
Stars: Mia Wasikowska, Michael Fassbender
●●●
Of the films based on Charlotte Bronte's beloved 19th century novel of madness on the moors, this may be the most realistic. It's bleak, slow and grim, like life in those forbidding stone piles where Jane has spent her sad life. The deadly artifice of society threatens her as much as her escapes into the harsh natural world outside. Wasikowska isn't up to playing the steel-willed literary heroine and seems mismatched with Fassbender's dark magnetism.

Hauer is a Hobo from hell

Grindhouse comes to Canada and it's armed with a shotgun Be prepared for side-splitting laughter

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

If nothing else, Hobo With A Shotgun lives up to the title. Buy a ticket and you'll see a homeless Rutger Hauer use a shotgun to splatter gallons of blood all over the screen and into the audience's hearts.

It's a down and dirty exploitation movie with a deliciously sick sense of humor guaranteed to offend and delight.

What's surprising is that this trashy fun is Canadian and a personal project for debut director Jason Eisner.

The project began in Eisner's childhood when he and longtime friend-turned-co-writer John Davis fueled their impressionable minds with gory genre movies.

"We had a shed in my parents back yard that we basically lived in with a VCR, a television, and a couple of bunks," Eisner told Metro. "We would go to a video store down the street everyday and watch movies all night. We cleaned out their sci-fi, action, and horror sections in one summer."

Adolescent movie marathons would turn into filmmaking ambitions for the pair, who initially made Hobo With A Shotgun as a fake trailer that won a competition associated Robert Rodriguez and Quentin Tarantino's Grindhouse in 2007. "We were starting to make a feature length version for no money with friends on the weekends when we went to the Grindhouse premiere in LA," explained Eisner.

"That night I got a call from Alliance saying that they wanted to release our trailer with Grindhouse theatrically and talk about developing the idea into a feature film."

With that simple phone call, Eisner transformed from a hungry film fan into a professional filmmaker.

Next week his blood-soaked vision debuts across Canada, promising one of the most depraved and giddily entertaining cinematic experiences to ever come out of our country.

It's something the filmmaker hopes won't be an isolated incident.

"Hopefully this might open some doors to make more movies like this in Canada. I'd love it, because we could make some pretty insane cinema up here if given the chance."

HANDOUT

▶ E.T. leads the way home in this 1982 classic.

Usually on-screen E.T.s are presented as either nurturing, evolved beings from another planet sent here to help mankind, or vicious world domination types, intent on colonizing or destroying Earth. But movies often encounter a third kind of movie alien – the goofy intergalactic visitor.

In this weekend's release of Paul, nerd superstars Simon Pegg and Nick Frost play Brit sci-fi geeks on a pilgrimage to some of America's UFO hotspots. Along the way they help Paul (voice of Seth Rogen), an irreverent alien with a taste for silly gags and Bob Dylan jokes, to get back to his home planet. Think of it as E.T. for frat boys and you get the idea.

In the world the movie creates, the idea of a wise-cracking alien makes perfect sense, but adding an E.T. doesn't always fit so well. Take Meatballs Part 2, for instance. The addition of Meathead, a grey, rubber-skinned alien sent to Camp Sasquatch to earn an Earth merit badge, hardly improves on the original Bill Murray classic.

The fun loving aliens of Earth Girls Are Easy are put to better use. The movie's plot is best summed up by manicurist Valerie (Geena Davis) as she enlists her friend Candy (Julie Brown) to give the aliens a makeover: "A UFO landed in my pool and they captured me but we made friends and I fed them Pop-Tarts and … we've got to cut their hair."

Once shaved the former red-, blue- and yellow-furred wookies look a lot like Jeff Goldblum, Jim Carrey and Damon Wayans, and are ready to hit the L.A. clubs in search of love. They may be aliens, Candy says, "but they can still be dates!"

One of the most memorable movie aliens is Mathesar, the haute-contre voiced Thermian leader played by Enrico Colantoni in Galaxy Quest. Learning everything he knows about Earth from television transmissions, he turns to the cast of a cancelled sci-fi show to help save his planet.

The best scene is when one of the actors, Gwen DeMarco (Sigourney Weaver), explains that TV shows are not "historical documents." "Surely you don't think Gilligan's Island is a …"

"Those poor people," Mathesar interrupts.

Opera coming to a theatre near you?

PHIL BROWN
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

The classic opera Carmen is hardly something that you'd think of as fodder for a 3-D movie (especially when it doesn't star Nicholas Cage), but next week the unlikely Carmen 3-D hits theatres nonetheless. The film is a 3-D recording of a live performance of Francesca Zambella's much loved 2006 production from British director Julian Napier, who has been experimenting with digital 3-D for a decade.

For Napier, the goal wasn't to adapt the production to suit his needs, but to use new technology to present a masterful rendition of Carmen to audiences worldwide.

"I was trying to find a way to translate what was already there into a new medium," Napier told Metro.

"Zambella's original production was fantastic and the reason we picked it was because it was already so cinematic and epic. I really didn't see it as my duty or place to go in and tamper with a wonderful production, so any minor tweaks I made were purely for the camera."

Beaver director Foster a steadfast Gibson friend

Mel Gibson's recent troubles interrupt film release The Beaver stars Gibson as a troubled man who uses a puppet to deal with his dark side

JACK PLUNKETT/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Jodie Foster walks the red carpet before a screening of her new film The Beaver at the SXSW Film Festival in Austin, Texas on Wednesday. Foster directed and stars in the movie.

Jodie Foster premiered the quirky but dark movie The Beaver at the South by Southwest Film Festival on Wednesday night, saying she's grateful for the performance by troubled actor and friend Mel Gibson.

The film follows a depressed toy company executive who picks up a hand puppet beaver and uses it to separate himself from the negative aspects of his personality that are destroying his family and career. Foster directed the movie and plays Gibson's wife.

"I can't imagine anybody else doing it. He has such a deep, struggling soul that really understood the part of the movie that's about a man in a spiritual crisis," Foster said on the red carpet before the screening.

Gibson, who recently was sentenced to 36 months of probation and ordered to attend 52 weeks of domestic violence counselling after pleading no contest to a misdemeanour charge of spousal battery on former girlfriend Oksana Grigorieva, did not attend the premiere.

The battery charge was another blow to Gibson's reputation, which took a major hit after his 2006 arrest for drunken driving. A deputy's report leaked to the celebrity website TMZ revealed the action star had used anti-Semitic and sexist slurs.

"I certainly have no regrets about him being in the film or his performance."
JODIE FOSTER

Foster, who has remained a steadfast friend of Gibson, acknowledged the battery charge made release of the film tricky.

"There were all sorts of things that were beyond our control," she told the audience after the movie. "It's been difficult. In the last six months there hasn't been any real audience (for the film).

"For anybody who's ever worked with Mel Gibson, he's the most beloved actor probably in the film business, at least of the ones I've worked with," Foster said.

"Obviously all sorts of stuff happened after the film finished that threw our release into a crazy pattern, but I certainly have no regrets about him being in the film or his performance."

The Beaver is only the second major film that Gibson has starred in since 2002. .

CANADA'S NEWEST SHOWROOM

CHRYSLER Jeep DODGE RAM

Wise customers read the fine print: ❖, •, ‡, ††, § The Save the Freight Event offers apply to retail deliveries of selected new and unused models purchased from participating retailers between March 1, 2011 and March 31, 2011. Retailer order/trade may be necessary. Offers subject to change and may be extended without notice. See participating retailers for complete details and conditions. ❖Save the Freight discount offer applies to eligible 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SXT, Crew and all Chrysler Town & Country models offered through Ontario retailers. Chrysler Canada will waive the $1,400 freight charge. While supplies last. See retailers for details. •$20,995 Purchase Price applies to 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SE Canada Value Package (29E) only and includes $7,000 Consumer Cash Discount. The Save the Freight offer does not apply to the 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SE Canada Value Package (29E). See participating retailers for complete details. Pricing includes freight ($1,400), air tax, tire levy and OMVIC fee. Pricing excludes licence, insurance, registration, any retailer administration fees, other retailer charges and other applicable fees and taxes. Retailer order/trade may be necessary. Retailers may sell for less. ‡Consumer Cash Discounts are offered on most new 2010 and select 2011 vehicles and are manufacturer-to-retailer incentives, which are deducted from the negotiated price before taxes. Amounts vary by vehicle. See your retailer for complete details. ††Customer Choice Financing for 36-, 48- and 60-month terms on approved credit through TD Financing Services and Ally Credit Canada is available at participating dealerships to qualified retail customers on most new 2010 Chrysler, Jeep, Dodge and Ram models (except Grand Caravan Cargo Van and Ram Chassis Cab) and select 2011 Chrysler, Jeep, Dodge and Ram models. The following terms apply to TD Financing Services contracts: (Different contract terms apply to Ally Credit Canada offers. See your retailer for complete details.) Vehicles are financed over a 36-, 48- or 60-month term with payments amortized over a term of up to 96 months and the pre-determined residual balance payable at the end of the contract. All contracts end, customers have the choice of returning their vehicle through a Chrysler, Jeep, Dodge, Ram dealership with no further obligations (except payment of a $199 return fee and excess wear and tear, mileage and similar charges), financing the remaining balance for the rest of the amortization period at then-current standard rates or paying the residual balance by the end of the contract. Some conditions apply. Customer Choice Financing offers are not available on Fleet sales. Example: 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SXT (29D) with a Purchase Price of $25,545 financed at 4.99% APR for 60 months with $0 down payment equals 260 bi-weekly payments of $161 and one final payment of $13,678. Cost of borrowing is $3,420 and total obligation is $29,915.18. See Customer Choice Financing offers at participating dealerships for complete details. §2011 Dodge Grand Caravan Crew shown has a higher price than the 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SE Canada Value Package and 2011 Dodge Grand Caravan SXT advertised. See your retailer or go to www.dodge.ca for complete details. ▪Based on Ward's 2011 Small Van Segmentation. Excludes other Chrysler Group LLC designed and/or manufactured vehicles. IT'S SPRING — SO LOOK AT THE NEW MUSIC CROP

I am, and I suspect you are, too, sick of winter. With spring arriving on at 7:21 EDT Sunday night — a little earlier than usual thanks to the celestial vagaries of the vernal equinox — we can start looking at not only warm weather but some major album releases. And after a rather dull Q1, things are looking up — especially if you're a rock fan.

Just look at what we're getting Tuesday, which is the first truly important release day of 2011.

The guess is Green Day will have a studio album for us in the fall (please, God, let it not be another rock opera) and to keep us occupied, they have Awesome As F—, a live CD/DVD from their 21st Century Breakdown tour. More live music will come from the reconstituted Soundgarden in the form of Live on I5, which is hopefully an amuse bouche for an album of new material later this year.

Hipsters, meanwhile, are trying not to appear curious about the return of The Strokes with Angles, their first album after a five year walkabout. Other albums to watch include the apparently post-emo version of Panic! At the Disco with Vices & Virtues and All You Need is Now, which is 80 per cent original (and well-aged) Duran Duran.

Momentum builds on March 29 with anticipated albums from Sum 41 (Screaming Bloody Murder), Boxer Rebellion (Cold Still), Generationals (Actor-Caster), and The Pains of Being Pure at Heart (Belong).

And then there's the matter of Britney Spears, who will inexplicably end up with another number one album with Femme Fatale.

The industry takes a bit of a breather the following week (although I am looking forward to Blood Pressures from The Kills on April 5) before all the planets line up on April 12 with the Foo Fighters (Wasted Light) and the North American release of Build a Rocket Boys by Elbow.

#60

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

ACNE

Eczema
Psoriasis
Rosacea
Rashes

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

■ I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried Benzoyl Peroxide, Proactiv, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC ■ In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser, Clean Clear, Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX ■ Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product like Murad, Proactiv and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL ■ Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON ■ I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC ■ All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60.

Blood Sugar Imbalance

■ Doctor told me I was at risk for diabetes unless I made changes in my diet. A friend advised me to take Bell Blood Sugar Imbalance #40. After using it for 3 months and make some easy diet changes I went back to my doctor and was amazed to hear that I was no longer at disk of becoming a diabetic. I am now living a healthier life thanks to Bell. Melissa Wharton, 55, Elmont, NY ■ For many years I was struggling with my blood sugar imbalance which caused excessive eating and weight gain. Bell #40 brought things under control. It eliminates my high sugar levels that were normally between 140 to 200. Now my reading is 122, 99, 129, 108, 112, 105 which is well in the range I want to be. I am also losing weight! Roger Light, 57, Fort Lauderdale, FL ■ My diabetes is now under control. I had all kinds of health problems for a year. Bell #40 has been working like a miracle for me.Thanks. Ronald George, 36, Toronto, ON

COLD SORES/ VIRUSES

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

Guaranteed to bring relief for viral infections or money refunded. For cold sores, colds, flus, bronchial and nasal infections. English scientists concluded that cold sore viruses may play a role in Alzheimer's Disease. ■ Registered nurse wrote at the first sign of a cold or flu like symptoms I take Virux Viral Infections #42. It stops it right away. This product has been a great help. We know allopathic medicine does not have an answer for viruses, but nature does, using God's pharmacy is the way to go. Janna Dodds, 45, Clifford, ON ■ No more cold sores, no more colds. When I felt a cold coming on I started taking #42 and the cold stayed away. Another great bonus , my cold sores stopped completely Carrie Shoonbaert, 32, Deloraine, MB. ■ I got herpes and truly thought my life was over. After taking #42 as a preventive I have been outbreak free for 3 months. James Cassamajor, 25, Brooklyn, NY. ■ Fibromyalgia for 15 years, had relief after 4 weeks with #42. Robin Obemsawin, 50, Oneida, NY. Money-back guarantee.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air) :

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON People's phone numbers on our website.

Mel Gibson deals with misdemeanour battery charges on same evening as Beaver movie premiere

California authorities say Mel Gibson was booked and released on a misdemeanour battery charge as part of the criminal case involving his former girlfriend.

Jail records show the actor-director turned himself in Wednesday to the El Segundo Police Department.

He was fingerprinted and his mug shot was taken, a requirement of a plea deal that resulted in him being on probation for three years and attending a year of domestic violence counselling.

Gibson opted to turn himself in on the same night his film The Beaver premiered at the South by Southwest film festival in Austin, Texas.

Accused

- The 55-year-old Oscar winner was accused of striking his then-girlfriend Oksana Grigorieva during a January 2010 fight.
- However, his no contest plea on Friday did not include an admission of guilt.

Twilight actress and Jonas Bro split: Source

▶ Joe Jonas

Joe Jonas and Twilight star Ashlee Greene have reportedly split up, according to Page Six. "It was mutual and amicable," a source says of the breakup. The source adds that the main factor in the split was the stars' hectic work schedules, which is awkward, since Jonas has this to say about his relationship with Greene in an interview in next month's Details: "What works about it is she really puts my feelings first. She understands my busy schedule." METRO

Gettin' tipsy with her tea?

Lohan reportedly consuming fermented beverage

While Lindsay Lohan is staying alcohol-free to comply with court instructions, she reportedly admitted to her probation officer that she's been imbibing in small quantities thanks to a fermented tea, Kombucha, she enjoys, according to TMZ. The beverage's label mentions it contains trace amounts of alcohol, but that's enough for the court to take notice.

The infraction has reportedly been added to Lohan's probation report and will be taken into consideration when a judge reviews her probation agreement.

Snooki finds kindred spirit in party pal

Jersey Shore star Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi has been hitting the scene in Los Angeles and Las Vegas lately, and she's found a kindred spirit in Paris Hilton. "I think we both like to have a good time," Polizzi tells OK! Magazine. "I think the only difference is she's a f—ing giraffe and I'm a shrimp." While not exactly best friends yet, the reality TV stars have a lot in common. "When we see each other in L.A., it's like, 'Hey, what's going on?' We hung out a couple times," Polizzi says. "She's a crazy party girl! I'm surprised people don't know."

The science of food

Molecular gastronomy recreates your favourite eats — with delicious results

DINNER EXPRESS

EMILY RICHARDS
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

How would you feel about biting into a smoked salmon bagel with capers and cream cheese?

Many would enjoy this tasty snack that is eaten sans fork or spoon.

But at Humber College in Toronto, Chef John Placko's molecular gastronomy course is helping people to rethink what they know about bagels and other foods by showing them that they can enjoy the same flavours using utensils.

Beet purée, for example, is turned into spaghetti while ice cream custard — frozen solid on the outside — turns creamy and rich on the inside after being dipped in a bath of liquid nitrogen.

It's all part of a series of courses on molecular gastronomy that is being offered to the public starting at the end of March. Participants learn techniques of molecular gastronomy, such as spherification, carbonation, gelification and sous-vide, to name a few.

"Molecular gastronomy is a modern style of cooking," explains Placko. "It takes advantage of technology and ingredient innovations to create food with unique textures and flavour combinations.

"It's also about replicating the same perfect result each and every time with the use of unique equipment in the kitchen like the Pacojet, Thermomix, immersion circulators and vacuum sealers."

Made famous by chefs like Ferran Adria from El Bulli restaurant in Spain, and other world top restaurants like Fat Duck and Noma, the molecular gastronomy trend has moved across the world and reached restaurants and bars in North America.

It is most often used in different forms by mixologists to create drinks.

"Most of the Top 10 restaurants in the world today rely on their own team of dedicated chefs working on research-driven cuisine (molecular gastronomy)," Placko says.

During the session I attended, we were able to sample the scientific food. It was an experience — to say the least.

The melon caviar was full of flavour and burst on its own. It would be a perfect addition to any beverage. Meanwhile, truffle oil scented snow was pungent in aroma, but a small taste offered big flavour. The price of truffle oil can be costly so by mixing it with maltodextrin, the flavour is absorbed, ensuring only a small amount is used.

The dish that I found most interesting was the kangaroo tenderloin, which was cooked sous-vide, seared with a blow-torch and served on compressed watermelon.

In the sous-vide method, the protein is sealed in a bag with flavour to marinate and is cooked in water at a very low temperature for a long time. An example offered in the course was a poached egg that had been poached for one hour — most eggs only take about three minutes to be poached in boiling water.

There is a lot to learn about this delicious science and I think the fact that almost all the top restaurants in the world incorporate molecular gastronomy at different levels would interest just about any foodie or chef.

"Most of the people who have signed up for the workshops are professional chefs, foodies and food stylists," says Placko. "There is, however, no substitution for a solid grounding in classical cooking skills and techniques.

"Molecular gastronomy adds a layer of advanced food preparation and cooking techniques — with a bit of fun mixed in."

For workshop dates and more information on registration, call 416-675-5005 or visit hospitality.humber.ca/news/molecular-gastronomy-0.

Chile's undisputed pricey wine champion

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

Though Chile's reputation for making consistent, quality wines at affordable prices may have done its winemakers well over the lat 25 years, try to find someone who doesn't raise an eyebrow when confronted with a Chilean wine over $15.

It's a classic case of the country being so good at making inexpensive wines that consumers wonder why they should pay more.

That's too bad because Chile makes plenty of amazing ultra premium wines that taste as impressive as their price tags.

The king of South America's upper liquid echelon is Concha y Toro's Don Melchor ($69.95 - $79.99). Named after the winery's founder, the just-released 2007 vintage is the 20th edition of a wine that stands glass to glass with some of the world's finest cabernet sauvignon-led juice.

Surprisingly drinkable at a young age, the 2007's dark fruit flavours show an edge of chocolate and black coffee along with some impressive wood background.

While a bit lighter than the excellent 2006 vintage, it should age well over the next 10 years if the idea of matching it with a juicy grilled steak doesn't convince you to open it tonight.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Dainty desserts

From Mini-Blizzards at Dairy Queen to the line of Petites launched by Starbucks, sweets are shrinking to fit a craving for snack-size portions.

Smaller desserts, however, started some years ago, says Kathy Hayden of Mintel research company. Eating healthier was one factor. And when the economy went sour, the smaller price tag of tiny treats became all that much sweeter. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Classic Italian comfort food

Garlic and spinach add extra flavour to this age-old manicotti recipe It's sure to be a hit with your family

EMILY RICHARDS
FOOD@METRONEWS.CA

Using already made fresh pasta sheets speeds up this family favourite.

Make the manicotti ahead and keep in the refrigerator overnight before baking so all you have to do is pop the pan in the oven when you get home for dinner.

It's perfect served up with salad and toasted garlic bread.

Preparation:

1. In pot of boiling water cook pasta sheets 3 at a time for about 5 minutes or until tender but firm. Remove with slotted spoon and run under cold water and place on clean tea towel. Cut each in half crosswise; set aside.
2. With water clinging to the leaves, place spinach in large skillet, in batches and cook over medium high heat, turning occasionally for about 8 minutes or until wilted. Remove to colander and let drain.
3. Return skillet to medium heat and add oil, garlic, oregano and hot pepper flakes and cook for 2 minutes. Add spinach and toss to coat. Scrape into bowl; let cool slightly. Add ricotta, egg, feta, parsley and salt and stir to combine.
4. Spread about 3 tbsp (45 mL) of the spinach mixture along one short side of pasta sheet and roll up. Repeat with remaining pasta sheets and filling; set aside.
5. Creamy Rosé Sauce: In saucepan, combine pasta sauce and whipping cream. Bring to boil and add basil.
6. Pour enough of the sauce to cover bottom of greased 13 x 9 inch (3 L) casserole dish. Place manicotti snugly into sauce and pour remaining sauce evenly over top. Cover with foil and bake in 350 F (180 C) oven for about 30 minutes or until bubbly. Uncover and bake 10 minutes or until slightly golden.

If creamy rosé sauce isn't to your liking, substitute for marinara pasta sauce.

Ingredients:

- 1 pkg (350 g) fresh pasta sheets
- 16 cups (4 L) baby spinach
- 1/4 cup (50 mL) extra virgin olive oil
- 10 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tsp (10 mL) dried oregano leaves
- 1/2 tsp (2 mL) hot pepper flakes
- 1 tub (500 g) ricotta cheese
- 1 egg
- 1/3 cup (75 mL) crumbled feta cheese
- 1/4 cup (50 mL) chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 tsp (2 mL) salt

Creamy rosé sauce

- 2 cups (500 mL) tomato basil or marinara pasta sauce
- 3/4 cup (175 mL) whipping cream
- 2 tbsp (25 mL) fresh basil

No Reimer, no chance

With rookie goalie sitting in press box, Leafs suffer serious blow to their fading playoff hopes as they are dominated by Panthers

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

▶ Florida's Mike Santorelli scores against J.S. Giguere Thursday.

The Leafs watched their playoff hopes take a beating while a healthy James Reimer watched from the press box.

The Florida Panthers, a team half-filled with minor leaguers trying to find their way in the NHL, beat the Leafs 4-0 Thursday night after Leaf coach Ron Wilson pulled a head-scratcher of a move.

Not only did J.S. Giguere get his first start since Feb. 16, Jonas Gustavsson got the honour of backing him up. Reimer was a healthy scratch.

All the more frustrating for Leaf fans was the fact that eighth-place Buffalo and ninth-place Carolina were both idle. The Leafs squandered a chance to gain some ground and now face a tough Boston Bruins squad at home Saturday to finish a run of four games in six nights.

PANTHERS	LEAFS

Giguere, who hadn't practised since Tuesday, was OK in the first period, stopping all eight shots. The team played well in front of him, clearing rebounds and blocking shots.

But the Leafs lacked intensity in the pivotal second period when Florida exploded for three goals. Giguere was screened for the second goal and never had a chance on the third.

Jason Garrison's slapshot from the blue-line changed direction, deflected by Sergei Samsonov, and gave Florida a 1-0 lead just 49 seconds into the second period. It was the ninth game in a row the Leafs gave up the first goal.

Stephen Weiss scored a beauty at 5:11 on the power play, using a screen to go far side on Giguere. It was a seeing-eye wrist shot that only could have been stopped by luck.

Mike Santorelli scored the third goal, the dagger, again on the power play.

Wizards at Raptors, 7 p.m.

Radio: 590 AM

Washington (16-50) brings the worst road record in the NBA into its game at the Air Canada Centre Friday night. The Wizards are a feeble 1-30 away from home this season.

Toronto (18-49) needs a victory over Washington to split the four-game season series between the teams. Forward Amir Johnson is questionable with a sprained left ankle. He has missed three straight games and will be re-evaluated after Friday's shootaround.

Nonis named GM for Canada

Next month

A training camp will be held in Paris and Prague featuring two exhibition games before Canada opens the tournament in Kosice, Slovakia, with a game against Belarus April 29.

This time around Dave Nonis is the No. 1 man with the Maple Leaf. And he's ready to stare down Brian Burke or anyone else that gets in the way.

The new general manager of Canada's entry at the upcoming IIHF World Hockey Championship made it clear where his allegiances lie after officially taking the position Thursday. He will find himself going head-to-head with Burke, his boss with the Toronto Maple Leafs and a longtime friend who will be part of the U.S. management team.

"This isn't anything to do with myself against Brian or any kind of side bets or anything like that," said Nonis. "The fact is that there's a number of good teams — the U.S. will have an excellent team in this tournament, the Czechs always do, the Russians are the No. 1-ranked team in the world.

"It's about putting the best Canadian team together and beating whoever we play." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Newest Raptor seizes the day

The sense is that James Johnson feels liberated these days — finally free to show what he can do, to succeed or fail on his own merits rather than based on the decisions of others.

He will be allowed to play basketball unfettered for at least one-quarter of an NBA season, no longer looking over his shoulder, no longer buried on some bench.

He may not be on the greatest of teams at the moment, but he's ready to seize what he sees as the greatest of opportunities.

"I feel I'm definitely going to separate myself in the league this year and next year," the newest Raptor said this week, a bold statement indeed.

It won't be for the wont of opportunity, though, and that's all the six-foot-eight small forward is asking for.

Since being acquired from Chicago in a trade last month, the 24-year-old Johnson has become an NBA starter after languishing on the bench with the Bulls for more than a season and a half.

He now knows he has the confidence of his coach and his teammates, and enough responsibility to realize that if he screws up every now and then — as every player does — it's not the end of the world.

That, in turn, has boosted his confidence as high as it has been since Chicago made him the 16th overall pick, out of Wake Forest, in the 2009 draft.

"You get (confidence) by playing, not being worried about being taken out if you make a mistake or anything like that," he said. "(You get confidence by) playing through your mistakes with a coach who allows you to play through your mistakes until you feel confident enough that you won't make those mistakes anymore." 1 Kevin Anderson scored 16 of his 25 points in the second half, including a floater with 18.7 seconds remaining that helped seal 12th-seeded Richmond's 69-66 win over No. 5 seed Vanderbilt in the Southwest regional Thursday.

2 Juan Fernandez sank an off-balance 18-footer with less than one second to play to give Temple a wild 66-64 victory over Penn State.

3 Demonte Harper made a three-pointer from the top of the circle with 4.2 seconds left to lead 13th-seeded Morehead State to a 62-61 victory over No. 4 Louisville.

4 Freshman Brandon Knight, held scoreless for more than 39 minutes, made a driving layup with two seconds remaining to lift No. 4 seed Kentucky to a 59-57 win over 13th-seeded Princeton.

5 Matt Howard scored a tip-in at the buzzer, giving eighth-seeded Butler a victory over Old Dominion in the Southeast regional. After Shawn Vanzant missed, Howard went up and put the ball in just before time expired. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pacioretty eyes playoffs

Max Pacioretty's career looked in doubt as he lay on the Bell Centre ice after a crash into a stanchion, but now the Montreal Canadiens may have him back for the NHL playoffs.

Doctors have told the team Pacioretty will be able to resume training, with contact, in three to five weeks, coach Jacques Martin said Thursday. With three weeks left in the regular season, it raises the possibility that the 22-year-old winger could play in the second round of the playoffs.

He will be at complete rest until March 26, then rehab before taking part in full practices.

"It's encouraging because at one time there was a question of whether he could come back and play, so this is good news," said Martin.

"He will be able to start his training in a short time and should be able to play in the playoffs."
MONTREAL CANADIENS COACH JACQUES MARTIN ON MAX PACIORETTY

Pacioretty was expected to be out for the rest of the season when he suffered a severe concussion and a non-displaced fracture of the fourth cervical vertebra in his neck. He was slammed into a divider that separates the players benches on a check by Boston's Zdeno Chara March 8.

Pacioretty told teammates during a brief visit before a game Tuesday night that he had no lingering concussion symptoms.

Martin said there was no change in the diagnosis of the injuries, but it was the first time doctors put a time frame on his recovery.

Sid calls skate 'a small victory'

Hits the ice in Pittsburgh for third 15-minute session of week

Sidney Crosby is taking it slowly, cautiously, if only because he has no other choice.

He has known no speed except exceedingly fast during his hockey career, but at 2½ months this is by far the longest he has been sidelined since entering the NHL 2005.

Normally, he would be racing to get back in the Penguins lineup but this injury is different — concussions aren't so predictable, aren't so forgiving.

So, for now, Crosby returns to the ice only in short, measured bursts.

He wants a lot more, but his doctors — and his injury —won't allow it.

"I don't want symptoms and I don't want to rush anything," said Crosby. "I know it's going to take time. Not doing anything for two and a half months, you feel it."

For weeks, anything resembling physical activity could bring on lingering headaches. After weeks Crosby could ride an exercise bike without experiencing symptoms.

Then came an on-ice session Monday, shooting a few pucks and skating around cones. With no setbacks, he did the same Tuesday. And Thursday.

What's encouraging for Crosby is that after weeks he is finally seeing some discernable and measurable progress.

Before the injury, Crosby was having the season of his career, with 32 goals and 34 assists in 41 games. (Alex Ovechkin of Washington, for example, remains three goals behind Crosby despite playing in 31 more games.)

SCOTT RUSSELL
FIELD OF PLAY

DELAYING WORLDS A PROBLEM

The time has come for the International Skating Union to make a courageous decision and do it for all the right reasons.

It should get on with the world championships in another country and do it as soon as possible. Cancelling or postponing until October when Tokyo may or may not be ready should not be viable options. The situation in Japan makes it impossible for Tokyo to host at present.

With all due respect, the priority of every Japanese authority should involve the safety of the people of that country. The focus should be on healing wounds, repairing the damage, feeding the thousands of homeless and beginning the process of reconstruction.

By respectfully moving the championships to a neutral site, the ISU would be acknowledging that figure skaters in Japan are adored, sometimes worshipped figures that may, if allowed to showcase their talent, play a small part in the recuperation of the national psyche during a time of crisis.

This should not be about logistics or whether or not the championships can turn a profit.

Instead, this should be about sport playing the part it claims it can in the lives of ordinary people. Namely, that the gifted athletes become the embodiment of their proud nations and serve to inspire the masses with their uplifting performances.

Two-time world champion Mao Asada and her teammate, Miki Ando, who has also held the crown, along with current men's champion Daisuke Takahashi, are superstars in Japan. They are followed wherever they travel by a crush of media. Back home their millions of disciples anxiously crave word of their successes.

In this case, the efforts of the Japanese skaters become, symbolically at least, crucial, as people all over Japan desperately need something to cheer for. In other words, if athletes really are role models then let the Japanese skaters fulfil their potential at the appointed hour.

The excuse that a venue, enough hotel rooms or volunteers cannot be found in a limited time is hogwash. In a time of crisis anything can be done.

Where there's a will there's a way, and if need be all the proceeds from ticket sales should be directed to the relief effort in Japan.

The ISU should respectfully get on with the world championships and demonstrate that sport still has clout beyond the bottom line.

KOKI NAGAHAMA/GETTY IMAGES

PUBLIC NOTICE

New Program Now Available That Can Help Renters Buy A Home With As Little As $7,000 Down Even With BAD Credit.

Toronto, ON - The Canadian H.O.M.E. Program (CHP) has just announced that they are now taking applications for their all new Lease To Own Program.

If you are currently renting, but don't have enough of a down payment , or have some issues with your credit score, or are new to Canada, this may be your chance to own your home, even if you have already been turned down by the banks.

This new program offers renters a simple way to move in to their own home in as little as 60-90 days.

The first step is a simple application form that helps you figure out what price works for you, and the exact area that fits your needs. Once you know the price range and area, you can actually choose from any home listed for sale on the realtor MLS.

To qualify you need verifiable employment and a minimum family income of $60,000 and a minimum $7,000 down.

There is no fee to apply, or to purchase, but you do have to qualify, and there are limited openings in every area due to the incredible demand.

To see if you qualify, call the CHP Info Line at:
416.366.9090

or go to their website at CanadianHomeProgram.com

Call or go online NOW.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Your lucky number is about to come up. The last few weeks have not been easy but already the cosmic picture is changing in your favour. Embrace it.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 Take a deep breath and hold it. Now, let it out slowly. Feel better? Good. The more relaxed you are now, the more easily things will come to you over the next two or three days.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Act on impulse today. Do things on the spur of the moment. Others will be impressed by your can-do attitude and will do what they can to make your life even more enjoyable. The more you give out, the more you get back.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Make a special effort today to persuade colleagues, employers and other important people that you know what you are talking about and that your vision is not just pie in the sky.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 If you make an effort to do the right thing today, you will not only change your own life but the lives of many others. Can one single person make a difference? He or she can can if he or she is a Leo!

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 You are entitled to feel pleased with what you have accomplished, but don't just sit back and do nothing more. There will be greater rewards if you keep the momentum going.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Don't pretend to be shocked by what you learn about someone, because you've got secrets of your own that would raise a few eyebrows! It's never a good idea to be judgmental. People will always be different. It's life's charm.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Anyone who tries to impose limits on you must be told to mind his or her own business. The one person who has the right to decide what you will do and who you will do it with is you.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Saturn has imposed a lot of new responsibilities on you of late, but you have not bent under the strain. Having said that, if it all gets a bit too much today, take a break.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Try not to be so aloof today. The more of an effort you make to reach out to people over the next 24 hours, the more of an effort they will make to do things for you.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 You may be tempted to do something out of the ordinary to get yourself noticed, but it isn't necessary. Don't go too far and give others the impression that you are too extreme to be trusted. ● SALLY BROMPTON
